

BOOTLEGGERS AND PISTOL TOTS GET HOT DEAL IN WEST VIRGINIA.

The following is a condensed report of the proceedings of the recent session of the Criminal Court, Welch, West Virginia, taken from last week's McDowell Recorder. If McDowell keeps up this lick she will make a larger amount of money from the bootleggers than she did from the licensed saloons, so long as the supply of bootleggers holds out. The gunmen seem to have been attended to, also. About $5,000 fines imposed at one sitting of the court, for selling liquor, and several hundred dollars upon the gunmen, is going some. Here is the condensed report:

The State against—
John Whit, plead guilty of totin' a gun and took six months on roads and $50 fine.

Jim Gilbert plead guilty of cending booze and got a $200 fine which he will work out on the roads.

John Votok plead guilty of totin' a pistol and will work the roads for six months and also work out a $50 fine.

He had already worked 112 days for which he takes credit.

Roy Dickenson for unlawful wounding plead guilty and got thirty days on the road and $25.

For totin' a pistol also he got six months on the roads and $50.

John R. Garland for unlawful wounding drew one year in the pen and as he had got before for a felony, a second sentence of five years was added to the first.

John Andrews a boot legger drew six months on road and $500 fine.

Mary Coles for boot legging, tried by jury and found guilty.

Robert Craggett also found guilty of boot legging, for totin' and put on the road for six months and fined $500, which he will work out at the end of his term.

Joe Tunberlick found guilty of shooting a man at Powhatan and drew seven years in the pen.

Andrew Smith plead guilty of selling liquor and got three months on the road plus $150, which he will work out at $1.00 per day.

Burrell England for boot legging plead guilty and took four months and $300. Jim Williams for like offense drew six months and $500.

John Branch found guilty of vending booze got six months and $500. Mose Hairston misdemeanor found not guilty.

Emma Boyd for selling liquor found guilty and took six months in jail and fine of $500.

Jack Muncy toted a pistol and will work roads for six months and pay $50.

George Burrell the same.

Henry Adams, a boot legger, drew six months and $500 fine on road.

Bert Hawks found guilty of unlawful wounding drew six months and $50 on road.

Henry McKen plead guilty of selling booze and got off with 4 months and $300.

J. P. Molnar for vending booze drew five months on road and a fine of $400. All fines to be worked out on road on one dollar per day unless paid in cash.

After a very busy term the court closed on the 9th. Another new lesson has been taught and that is that this court will not tolerate the illicit sale of whiskey.

Boot leggers would better desist or move to some other county unless they want to build road under Col. McClaren from one to three years.

NEGROES HAD THE WRONG SPOKESMAN

Richmond Journal.
The colored delegation which called on President Wilson yesterday to protest against the operation of the races in government offices should have been composed of Southern negroes, or at least should have had a Southern negro for spokesman. The spokesman of the delegation, W. M. Trotter, of Boston, who was offensive in the remarks to the President of the United States, has been known for a long while chiefly as an agitator, the most of whose time is given to stirring up feeling between the white and colored races so far as he is able to do so. And experience has shown that he is able to make just as much trouble in Boston as in any other city, North or South.

It was only the other day that a delegation of colored men headed by Giles B. Jackson, the well known colored lawyer of this city, called on the President to invite him to attend the exposition which the colored people of the entire country will hold here next year. Giles made a most excellent presentation of the plan of the colored men, and in a manner which could not have failed to impress President Wilson, extended a warm invitation to him to visit the exposition. That Mr. Wilson was impressed was indicated by his reply. He declared he felt the deepest interest in the movement, and concluded by saying that unless something should arise to make it impossible he would visit the exposition next summer. The members of the delegation came away delighted with the manner in which the President had received them, and the President could not have failed to be impressed by the appearance and the manner of the delegation.

The negroes, North and South, who really are laboring for the betterment of their race, are so busy with this work they have no time to devote to discussion of and agitation for social equality. By the way, who ever saw a Southern negro who demanded or believed in social equality?

The negro should be protected in every right which he possesses under the law. This is the rule in every Southern State. When the exception arises it invariably provokes a protest from the press of the South. Only the other day an instance of the fairness of the courts in dealing with negroes accused of crime was illustrated in this section. A negro of Henrico county was charged with criminal assault upon a white woman. The indictment was returned by a grand jury on which there were two negroes. Feeling against the accused, of course, ran high. After a prolonged trial, the jury returned a verdict of acquittal. Nor is the significance of the incident impaired by the fact that the negro was defended by white lawyers who volunteered their services and who did not receive a penny of compensation.

We believe it would prove a very difficult matter to induce that acquitted negro to express the opinion that in regulation which provides that colored employees in government offices in Washington shall work in rooms to themselves and white employees in rooms to themselves is degrading to his race.

SUDAN FOR SOILING.

Farm & Ranch.
With reference to feeding Sudan grass as a catch and soiling crop, Mr. A. M. Augustine, secretary Illinois State Horticultural Society, Normal, Illinois, says in a private communication: "Sudan grass is in my opinion one of the most valuable things that has ever been brought out in this section of the country, especially for a catch crop. It personally gave me wonderful results for summer pasture this year. An acre carried two mules and a work horse, all the forage they received from the 10th of July until a few days ago, and still it got ahead of them, so that we had to cut it twice, and got over a ton of hay from the land."

IN MEMORIAM.

Cedar Bluff, Va., Nov. 16, 1914.
Resolutions adopted by Cedar Bluff Lodge No. 260, A. F. and A. M., on the death of Brother J. Marion McGuire:

Whereas, He has pleased the Supreme Grandmaster of the Universe in His wisdom and goodness to take from our midst our beloved Brother McGuire, which sad event occurred on November 5th, 1914, at 3 p. m.

Whereas, Brother McGuire has been a faithful and consistent member of the order for 50 years and of this lodge since its institution; therefore, be it resolved:

- (1) That in the death of our beloved brother this lodge has lost one of its best and most earnest members. The wife a husband whose place cannot be filled; the children a father the loss of whom is a great and sore affliction to them.

- (2) That while we sorrow among ourselves the loss of our brother, we deeply sympathize with the bereaved mother and children and commend them to God who alone can console in this their sad bereavement.

- (3) That while we sorrow, it is not despondently but hopefully and we look with earnest faith to the time when this edge in the harvest home shall meet our brother around the Great White Throne and lay down our jewels at the Grandmaster's feet. Be it further,

Resolved, that a copy of these resolutions be furnished to the bereaved family and to the county paper and a copy be read over our minutes.

"LOONEY" ON SOMETHINGS.

Lickskillit, Va.
Editor Clinch Valley News:
Your Mary Jane article of last week revives an impression that many of your friends have absorbed from your editorials, in effect that though doctors of theology you go all to pieces when discussing anything to eat (or drink).

Thus in acknowledgment of twenty cents worth of denatured sorghum molasses (plural) you wonder off on a singular perignation to your early childhood and include a wordy description of your first seven years term of what you call a "cutaneous eruption," for which most of your contemporaries have a far less en-phonous term.

This, however, proven that you have a vague idea of the "joke" the Hermit was playing on you when he sent you a patent medicine put up like sorghum, but intended to alleviate an ailment which has long since become chronic.

Now, if you haven't already started in on Mary Jane it's because you are scared of the Doctor Jackson looking term dioxide, which only means an equivalent of plain oxygen with a few other equivalents of positive bodias—like anasoftida, kreosote, or brimstone, and is intended as an antispasmodic for children, or girls, an anti-hysterical for women, an anti-scorpionic for soldiers and sailors, and anti-saloonic for people like you.

If you haven't already as you threatened, wallowed your corned beef wait till you can persuade some other "hermit" to send you a peck of buckwheat flour, then feed Mary Jane to the chickens and "buy" a quarter's worth of plain, ball-faced sorghum and fill up for the winter.
Yours truly,
T. GREEN.

DERESSED SPIRITS

Everyone Has It Within His Power to Be Happy.
A celebrated French physician has said that "a man's liver is the barometer of his disposition."
Every man and every woman knows that the cheerful smile is a big factor in ones success.
Everyone should know that the disordered liver is cause of ninety per cent. of human ills. Lazy overworked livers are the prime causes of headaches, indigestion, constipation and dozens of other ills.
But the inactive liver always warns by coated tongue, sour stomach, dull eye and green laziness. Heed your warning and you insure happiness to yourself and reflect it upon your associates. Calomel used to do. Modern day science has found a better way in CARSWELL'S LIVER-AID which is a pure vegetable remedy on sale under guarantee or money refunded at 50 cents for large bottle. Ask John E. Jackson about it.

THANKSGIVING.

(By Amelia A. Altizer.)
Back to the dear old mother, back to the dear old dad;
Back where it makes no difference what kind of luck I've had;
Back where they'll greet me kindly, free from all "welcome" sham.
Back where where they really want me, just for the thing I am.
That's where I'll be Thanksgiving, back with the folks once more,
With a mother's hug and a father's kiss again at the open door.

I'm tired of going from place to place,
I'm tired of progressive ways;
I long for the backward journey and the peace of by-gone days.
I'm weary toiling over for money, and peace and fame;
I'm seas of the constant howling that life is a fighting game.
And I long for the sacred sweetness, the calm of the hallowed nether, in the little home where it matters not whether I'm poor or rich.

I am weary of world distinctions, the lines that are tightly drawn;
I am weary of the great from the humble, the weak from the women of town.

The causes of dull and clever, and the varied degrees of worth,
That have grown to seem so important to women on this good old earth;
And I long to go back to the real things, away from the hollow sham,
Back where they love me and want me just for the thing I am!

Back to the dear old mother, back to the kind old dad,
Back where though poor and toiling to see me they'd still be glad;
Back where a smile is honest, back where a kind word's meant,
Where joy is a thing untainted by selfish and vain intent;
That's where I'll be Thanksgiving, back at the open door.

Where a mother's kiss and a father's smile will gladden the heart once more.

A HUMOROUS DETAIL.

An old lady and her nephew were discussing the suffrage question, and to prove the inferiority of woman, the nephew resorted to the story of the creation. He said:

"God made man, and found that it was not good for him to be alone, so He resolved to make him a helpmeet. When He had taken the rib from man's side, He put it on the ground and while He was closing the aperture in man's side a little dog came along and snatched the rib, and while getting through a hole in the fence the Lord cut off his tail."

Having lost the rib, the Lord made woman from the "dog's tail."
The old lady replied: "Oh, He just found the tail to be better material." If this is true, why not give women a vote?
